A high official of the State Department said the United States may, after amending its regulations so as to classify all armed merchant ships as warships, issue warming to Americans that they will take passage on armed ships at their own risk. This would relieve the United States of responsibility, as, in the light of such changed regulations and warnings, the State Department would consider that Americans traveling armed passenger vessels were en-

State Department and diplomatic officials insisted vigorously that the new German sea policy had no reference to the settlement of the Lusitania case, and that there had been no bargain between the Lusted States and Germany by which this Government made its proposals for disarming merchantmen in return for concessions made by Germany in the submarine controversy. On the other hand, it was contended that the United States in all its notes to Germany has protested specifically that the United States in all its notes to Germany has protested specifically to sinking of "unarmed merchantmen." The official view is that the new German policy will give immunity from submarine attack to all neutral liners and to unarmed beligerent liners. This is the policy, they insist, for which the United States has been contending.

None of the entente allies has re None of the entente allies has replied to the recent Lansing proposals iriging that merchantmen be disarmed. The State Department has been informally advised that the allies will reject the proposal.

The British view is that they have everything to lose and nothing to gain by the proposals. Moreover, they refuse to treat seriously any German promises.

In this respect a statement made in formally by a prominent British of-icial recently is interesting. This of-icial pointed out that it would be extrely within the bounds of possi-bility for a submarine to sink an un-armed merchant ship and "get away with the charge whether with the charge, whether true or untrue, that the ship carried armament."
A pronouncement from the State Department accepting the German and Austrian classification of armed ships as war vessels, would mean that such liners could not enter American ports more than once every six months, and that they would be ordered to leave within twenty-four hours.

U. S. Might Retaliate.

Officials admit that under such conditions American goods, excepting Councilman Under It Resigns hose urgently needed by the entente allies, might be held up indefinitely in port through dearth of bottoms. They admit they see no way at this time for the United States to prevent time for the United States to prevent the entents allies from ordering merchant ships of those nationalities from refusing to take American cargoes. Rétalistion by the United States, they said, might take the form of an agreement among American manufacturers to sell no goods to the entents allies, not even war munitions, unless allied merchant ships were permitted to carry goods consigned to other than home ports.

BULGAR CHIEF THINKS SPRING WILL END WAR

Says Central Powers Will Force

BERLIN, Feb. 11 .- The Sofia correspondent of the Vossische Zeitung telegraphs the summary of an interview with the Bulgarian Generalissime Schekow. He said:

"After the victories achieved and the sacrifices by the Bulgarian people and army, there can be no doubt that Bulgaria stands on the threshold of the brilliant future, all the more because army and people are one in the purpose of continuing the fighting to a successful end.

"Montenegro's capitulation has great political significance. It was a heavy blow for the allies. One may already safely assume that because of the Montenegrins' capitulation the plan for action against Saloniki has great-

DISMISSAL OF CADETS

Says Navy Needs Only Officers Who Measure Up to Modern by the committee. Efficiency Standard.

Secretary of the Navy Daniels today approved the recommendation of Super ntendent Eberle, of the Annapolis Naval Academy, dismissing eighty-two midshipmen who falled in the midwin-ter examination. Three of the midship-men are of the first class, nineteen the second class, twenty the third class, and forty the fourth class.

The names of the dismissed midship-men were not made public.

Explaining his action, Secretary Dan-icle said.

Explaining his action, Secretary Danicis said:

"The Navy does need more officers, but it needs only those who can meet the high standard of the institution." I do not think any midshipman should be allowed to graduate unless he can make 62½ per cent in his studies. In examinations given to civilians who come into the navy in other branches we require a passing mark of not less than 70 per cent. With the careful instruction given to midshipmen, a passing mark less than 62½ per cent would be such a lowering of standards as would tend to decrease the efficiency of the officers of the navy.

"No man should be commissioned in the navy who does not measure up to increquirements of modern naval education."

The time has come when mere seniority in the active service nor mediocrity at the Naval Academy should be allowed to prevent the near-cest possible perfection of naval crit-cience."

Secretary Daniels said he had before him a precedent where former Secre-tary Meyer changed the passing marks to agmit midshipmen found unsatis-factory, but he refused to follow this

He called attention to the law recentify passed by Congress giving three appointments to the Naval Academy to each member of Congress as a means of supplying the needs of more naval officers without impairing the service. This will make a possible increase of SI midshipmen for the coming year.

Mitchell was put into office to see if he couldn't reorganize affairs and make the plan successful. His resignation was tendered yesterday, effective this spring. He says the city manager plan should be adopted by Des Moines. The bonded and floating indebtedness of Des Moines has increased nearly $1.000,000 since the plan was put in force seven years ago. The plan was heralded as one that would eliminate partisan politics from all municipal elections, place the responsibility for the success or failure of the city government upon the heads of the individual commissioners and generally make for economy and efficiency.

WOMAN TO UNDERGO

Says She's Been Stitched So Often in Nine Years She Doesn't Mind It.

YONKERS, N. Y., Feb. 11.-Mrs. Ro alle Vitale, of Yonkers, widow of the Rev. Joseph Vitale, is preparing to undergo the ninety-eighth surgical operation performed upon her in nine Doctors say this number of incisions made in her body stands as a record. Dr. William S. Bainridge, who has performed most of the operations, told his patient on her last visit to his office that as there was not much of her body that had not been touched by the knife he did not know how future operations could securely be sewn up.

"I have had so many," said Mrs. Vitale, smilingly, "that I don't mind them any more. I was never afraid to go under the knife, and that is why I have survived ninety-severi operations. If people stopped thinking that they were going to die on the operating table they would come through all right."

Mrs. Vitale's husband died a year ago, while she was on the operating table. Her first experience resulted from an attack of appendicitis in New Orieans. The surgeon made a bad ob of it and it had to be done all over again. One operation followed another until she had two performed regularly each month.

SALTS IN HOT WATER CLEARS PIMPLY-SKIN

Says we must make kidneys clean the blood and pimples disappear.

Pimples, sores, and boils usually result from toxins, poisons and impurities which are generated in the bowels and then absorbed into the blood through the very ducts which should absorb only nourishment to sustain the body.

It is the function of the kidneys to filter impurities from the blood and cast them out in the form of urine, but in many instances the bowels create more toxins and impurities than the kidneys can climinate, then the blood uses the skin pores as, the next best means of getting rid of these impurities

The surest way to clear the skin of these cruptions, says a noted authority, is to get from any pharmacy about four ounces of Jad Salts and take a tablespoonful in a glass of hot water each morning before breakfast for one week. This will prevent the formation of toxins in the bowels. It also stimulates the kidneys to normal activity, thus coaxing them to filter the blood of impurities and clearing the skin of pimples.
